Knoxville's Green Car and Courier adds the Southeast's first bio-fueled stretched limousine to their fleet.

Knoxville, TN May 27, 2009- Green Car and Courier is an environmentally friendly transportation company focused on reducing the carbon footprint in several areas of the transportation industry. Focused on daily courier routes, executive cars, and shuttle buses, Green Car's eyes are on expansion. "We just couldn't ignore the demand for limos any longer." says owner Chris King.

Green Car has purchased a stretched 2006 Lincoln Town Car limo that seats 8 people in style. It is presently converted to run on pure ethanol and Green Car plans on putting a CNG (compressed natural gas) conversion on it in the next few months, making it a bi-fuel. "This is the first stretched alt-fuel limo we've heard of, or could find online west of Colorado, and we are very proud and excited to put it on the roads here in East Tennessee."
