

2005 Southeast Biofuels Workshop

June 6 – 7, 2005

PARK VISTA HOTEL

GATLINBURG,

TENNESSEE

“Building Alternative Fuel Networks”

The 2005 Southeast Biofuels Workshop is designed especially for public and private fleet managers, biofuel providers and marketers, and others interested in learning how biofuels can benefit their organization, our economy, our environment and our national security.

Building partnerships with fleet owners and fuel providers is essential to the development of alternative fuel corridors throughout the Southeast. The 2005 Biofuels Workshop will address key concerns about fleet use and supply of biofuels (biodiesel and ethanol), including compatibility and maintenance issues, effects on manufacturer warranties, costs of using biofuels, new federal tax incentives, market supply and demand, air quality and public health impacts.

The 2005 Southeast Biofuels Workshop is hosted by the Southeast Alternative Fuels Task Force with support from a grant provided by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Register today!

-  Learn the advantages of using cleaner burning biodiesel and ethanol fuels
-  Take advantage of new federal tax incentives
-  Strengthen our nation's economy and reduce our dependence on imported petroleum by buying domestically produced fuels
-  Support America's farmers and agricultural businesses
-  Reduce air pollution and protect public health

About the Southeast Alternative Fuels Task Force

The Task Force is a broad-based cooperative network of stakeholders committed to increasing the availability and use of alternative fuels in the Southeast, especially throughout Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

The Task Force works to improve air quality and decrease national reliance on imported petroleum by expanding the availability and use of alternative fuels. Members include state and federal environmental, energy and transportation agencies, Clean Cities coalitions, local governments, fuel suppliers and marketers, business and industry, utilities, fleet managers, vehicle and engine manufacturers, federal land managers, universities and a variety of public and private interest groups.
